Purpose:	This policy aims to set out MIT's position regarding the safeguarding of children and vulnerable adults according to the Children Act 2004 This Policy must be read joint with the Prevent Policy

Introduction

MITSkills is a privately owned government funded organisation that undertakes centre and work based learning programmes both on site and in remote working locations.

This policy applies to all staff including senior managers, paid staff, volunteers and sessional workers, agency staff, students or anyone working on behalf of MITSkills. It shows a commitment to protecting and safeguarding children against potential harm or actual harm. It fully accepts and promotes the principle enshrined in the Children Act 1989 that the welfare of the child is paramount.

The policy also demonstrates a commitment to working with statutory bodies, voluntary agencies and other faith communities to promote the safety and welfare of children and acting promptly whenever a concern is raised about a child or about the behaviour of an adult. MITSkills will work with the appropriate statutory bodies when an investigation into child abuse is necessary.

We will endeavour to safeguard children and young people by:

- Valuing them, listening to and respecting them.
- Adopting child protection guidelines through procedures and a code of conduct for staff and volunteers.
- Recruiting staff and volunteers safely ensuring all necessary checks are made.
- Sharing information about child protection and good practice with children, parents, staff and volunteers.
- Sharing information about concerns with agencies who need to know, and involving parents and children appropriately.
- Providing effective management for staff and volunteers through supervision, support and training.
- Providing awareness of this policy through the learner induction and access to wider safeguarding support.
- Reviewing our policy and good practice annually.

MITSkills will endeavour to safeguard the children who are learners or who attend activities we organise or facilitate by following the recognised procedure if a concern is raised about a child's welfare.

It is important that everyone in the organisation is aware that the person who first encounters a case of alleged or suspected abuse is not responsible for deciding whether or not abuse has occurred. That is a task for the professional child protection agencies following a referral to them of concern about a child.

MITSkills (MIT) fully accepts its legal (The Children Act 2004) and moral obligation to provide a duty of care, to protect all children and (vulnerable adults) and safeguard their welfare irrespective of age, any disability they have, gender, racial origin, religious belief and sexual identity.

Legal framework

The Children Act 1989 sets out that the child's welfare is paramount and that safeguarding and promoting it is the priority.

The Children Act 2004 set out a duty on Local Authorities to work closely with those providing services to children and young people.

Safer Recruitment and Safeguarding Children in Education (2007)

Working Together to Safeguard Children 2013 sets out how organisations and individuals should work together to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and how practitioners should conduct the assessment of children:

'Safeguarding children - the action we take to promote the welfare of children and protect them from harm - is everyone's responsibility. Everyone who comes into contact with children and families has a role to play.'

The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child sets out key principles which are enshrined within these acts and the statutory guidance. From 15 January 1992, when the treaty came into force, every child in the UK has been entitled to over 40 specific rights. These include:

- the right to life, survival and development
- the right to have their views respected, and to have their best interests considered at all times
- the right to a name and nationality, freedom of expression, and access to information concerning them
- the right to live in a family environment or alternative care, and to have contact with both parents wherever possible
- health and welfare rights, including rights for disabled children, the right to health and health care, and social security
- the right to education, leisure, culture and the arts
- special protection for refugee children, children in the juvenile justice system, children deprived of their liberty and children suffering economic, sexual or other forms of exploitation

The rights included in the convention apply to all children and young people, with no exceptions.

- Ensure that we keep written records of safeguarding concerns, even when there is no need to refer the matter to the relevant agencies.
- Ensure all records are stored securely and in accordance with the Data Protection Act and the GDPR.

Due to the wide nature of our work MITSkills may be in the frontline of work with some children, young learners, vulnerable learners and vulnerable adults. This means that we may be the first to identify that a child, young or vulnerable learner or adult is being or has been abused or that we are concerned about a persons well-being. Everyone has an equal responsibility to ensure that the individual needs and welfare of the person are put first and to safeguard any person with whom we may come into contact. This responsibility not only rests with the Directors, Senior Management and Designated Persons for Safeguarding but also with every individual member of staff employed or volunteering within our organisation whilst at work, at an employer's premises or at home.

We will ensure that our Safeguarding Policy and Procedures are reviewed at least annually to ensure that they are still relevant and effective.

All applicants will complete an application form enabling each of them to have the same opportunity to provide information about themselves and assist in identifying any gaps in their employment history

During interviews the panel will explore:

- a). The applicant's attitude and demeanour towards young or vulnerable learners
- b). The applicant's ability to support our commitment to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of young or vulnerable learners
- c). Any gaps in the applicant's employment history
- d). Any concerns or discrepancies arising from the information obtained
- e). A Single Central Record (SCR) will be held for all staff employed by MITSkills and this will be updated on an ongoing basis.

Post Appointment

All staff will take part in an induction programme which will vary dependent on the nature of the role. The purpose of this will be to:

- a). Provide awareness and explanations of relevant policies and procedures. Provide support for the role in which they have been engaged

Safeguarding Code of conduct

The code of conduct should guide all actions taken by staff and anyone else working on behalf of MITSkills. If it is necessary to act contrary to it (for example visiting a learner in their home) you should only do so after discussion and approval with your line manager.

Place the safety and well-being of learners first – before any organisational or personal goals and before any loyalty to colleagues and friends

- a). Help and assist in developing a culture in which any member of staff can feel comfortable about pointing out to another member of staff that his/her behaviour is, or may have been inappropriate.
- b). Be committed to actively preventing the exploitation and abuse of young or vulnerable learners.

- c). Respect all individual learners regardless of any protected characteristic (as defined within the Equality Act 2010), or ability and treat each individual learner with respect and dignity.
- d). Respect each learners' boundaries and help them to develop their own sense of rights, as well as helping them to know what they can do if they feel there is a problem. The focus of your relationship with a learner you have met through the course of your work should always remain professional and you should always act in a professional manner. You should never develop a personal relationship and you should avoid socialising with learners on occasions where it does not constitute part of your normal duties. Avoid establishing relationships through the use of social media such as Facebook or Twitter
- e). Do not take illegal drugs whilst at work, do not drink alcohol prior to or during contact with learners and do not smoke with or in front of vulnerable learners.
- f). Do not give learners alcohol, tobacco products or any form of drug or medication. You should not assist learners in anyway, in obtaining these items.
- g). Do not engage in or tolerate the bullying or harassment of any person.
- h). Never engage in or tolerate inappropriate physical activity such as 'horse play'.
- i). Ensure all lone working with young or vulnerable learners is undertaken with caution and awareness in mind.
- j). Report where learners may be at risk of radicalisation, or extremism and challenge where learners are accessing or encouraging others to or sharing material and views with extremist or radicalisation content to the Safeguarding Officer.

It is essential to have guidelines to follow in order to minimise the possibility for abuse, misunderstanding and misinterpretation. False and malicious allegations are rare but general good practice will help prevent them. The following examples will help to create a positive, transparent culture and climate.

- a). Maintain a safe and appropriate emotional and physical distance from young or vulnerable learners
- b). Do not make sexual or discriminatory comments of any kind
- c). Do not engage in rough or sexually provocative games
- d). Do not make sexual comments / innuendos
- e). Do not become involved with lending or borrowing money or property
- f). Do not form exclusive or secretive relationships
- g). Do not invite young or vulnerable learners into your home
- h). Do not allow or use inappropriate reading materials / or internet materials/or sites
- i). Do not use unacceptable forms of restraint

All employees should be aware of the potential for misunderstanding when touching or coming into contact with young or vulnerable learners.

If it is an accepted part of a course, touching should be appropriate to the situation and if applicable all relevant guidelines should be followed. Consoling a young or vulnerable learner who is upset and administering first-aid are examples of necessary and acceptable behaviour. Employees should, however, endeavour to minimise any possible misunderstanding of their actions.

- a) Always ensure the working environment is safe and healthy.
- b) Respect the rights, dignity of all learners and treat everyone with equality;
- c) Ensure the welfare of each child in the context of achieving their goals;
- d) Ensure that if any manual/physical support is required, it should be provided openly. Children should always be consulted, and their agreement gained.

Staff are expected to keep up to date date with Safeguarding and Child protection and Prevent guidelines on Sharepoint

MIT Staff and Associates should never

- a) Engage in rough, physical or sexually provocative games;
- b) Allow or engage in any form of inappropriate touching;
- c) Allow children to use inappropriate, racist or abusive language to go unchallenged;
- d) Make sexually suggestive comments to a child

Note: It may sometimes be necessary for adults to do things of a personal nature for children if they are young or disabled. These tasks should only be carried out with the full understanding of the parents/carers. If a person is fully dependant on you, talk with him/her about what you are doing and give choices where possible.

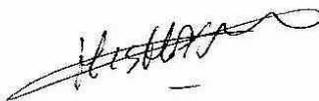

If any of the following occurs you should report this immediately to another colleague and record the incident. You should ensure you inform the Safeguarding Officer so that the parents of the child or the school are informed (Schools have specialised staff ready and prepared to assist when needed.) You should not attempt to do so yourself.

- a. If you accidentally hurt a child or young person;
- b. If he/she seems distressed in any way;
- c. If a child misunderstands or misinterprets something you have done.
- d. You are concerned that the child or vulnerable adult is being abused

For all incidents or concerns involving a vulnerable adult or child follow the current safeguarding procedures and guidelines including where a learner raises concerns or accusations, record the facts reported and or observed, and report them to the MITSkills Safeguarding and Prevent Officer.

It is the Safeguarding Officer responsibility to investigate and report any Safeguarding issue to appropriate external organisations.

This Policy is to be read in conjunction with our Prevent Policy.
